Julian Myers

1.1 Julian Myers

Birth: 1891? 15 Feb, Buffalo
Death: 17 Nov 1956
Burial: Our Lady Help of Christians, Cheektowaga, New York
Occupation: Linesman at New York State Electric & Gas Company (Troubleshooter)
Religion: Catholic

Gentle man, always fixed the kids toys.

Grampa loved his job so much.... He worked thru a snowstorm and came home late and when Agnes complained he said. "God damn it if you don't shut up I'm going back out again" (Katherine).

Agnes used to wash with a washboard and boiled water. Bringing out shirts on a stick. (Katherine, Marion)

5 Boys had Girls first, all but one had ovarian Cancer....Dawn, Sharon, Sandie, Susan (not ovarian).

Eulogy by Daniel Aronzon

Seventeen years ago when Sandie left Saint Francis Hospital, her colleagues assembled to have a party bidding her farewell.

1988:

“You brought people together to accomplish something good, with grace and style”

“You made us believe in the essential goodness of the nursing profession and its members”

“You care about your work, the people who work with you and most importantly, those who need you the most, your patients”

“You shared your vision on the role of nursing in hospitals and healthcare, and the essential centrality of the nurse’s role in the deliver of that care”

This week when Sandie passed away, her colleagues at Vassar commented as follows:

Sandie was class. She was caring and fun loving.

Sandie defined competence and caring.

She had a specific talent in that she could bring people together.

She brought so much to the table with her kind, sensitive touch.

She was the voice of reason backed by years of health care experience.

She was unique in her quest to see the big picture, to rise above the petty and trivial.

She cared and it showed.

Because of what she did, thousands of patients received better care.

She mad us all better!

Seventeen years of caring, loving and helping. The comments haven't changed, thank God neither did the person.

I first met Sandie in the early 1980's when as a new pediatrician in town, I tried to develop an infant screening program for high risk babies. Sandie patiently guided me through the process of getting it done despite the bureaucracies of Vassar and Saint Francis Hospitals.

Almost two years ago when I became the CEO of Vassar Brothers Medical Center, my team and I were faced with the challenge and responsibilities very new to us. Sandie was my sounding board, my ear and my confident.

She listened but more importantly she heard.

She cared, but more importantly she felt.

She mentored but more importantly she taught.

She laughed, but more importantly she applauded.

Just a few weeks ago, I called and imposed one last time of her wisdom and experience. As always, her advice was sound and I'm glad that I listened.

Sandie taught and mentored thousands of nurses at three of the (Hudson) Valley's most important hospitals; Saint Francis, St Lukes and finally, Vassar Brothers. She was proud, rightly so of her accomplishments, but if you wanted to see her light up, you just had to talk to her about her Vince and her family, especially her nieces. She cherished every moment she spent with them, she glowed with love when she spoke of gatherings and holidays.

Ten years ago Sandie was diagnosed with ovarian cancer. It was a battle she fought with courage, home and dignity.

Only a few of her friends and her doctors knew the truth. When her doctors had bad news for her, it was she who cheered them up.

When others might have dissolved into a morass of self pity and depression, Sandie fought her cancer with a smile.

Always the lady, her last words to me this past Friday was to ask about my family and to wish me a happy Thanksgiving.

Whether you believe in a traditional heaven or more of a parallel universe that the human spirit can sometimes transverse to.

Whether you believe that heaven is taking your last breath with little of few regrets.

Whether you believe heaven is living on in the hearts and minds of your loved ones.

Regardless of how we choose to define it, we can all agree that Sandie is there now.

We will mourn her passing, we will miss that special smile, we will regret the moments we can no longer spend with her, but above all, we must remember to rejoice, for this was a life well lived.

Freedom Fighters
by Dolores Myers

What a wonderful life he does live!
He Gave beyond what many men give!
Fifty-four months of his life
'Mid deprivation, horror and strife.

He served his country to keep men free
Joined in D-Day in Normandy on day twenty-three.
As husband and father he does excel
And gained the love of his grandchildren as well.
He continued his love for his fellow man without fear
In politics and forty years as a fireman volunteer.
Always love and safety was his goal
Life rewarded him, although he held grief, he has happiness in his soul.

His earning of the Bronze Star Medal came with help from above
His greatness in life an epic of love.
Glory and honor he never did seek
The cost of his comrades and his gratitude for a life of freedom
Does keep him silent and meek.

Trolley came down from the car barns in Buffalo, down to bellview out along comopark blvd, turned left at como snack bar. Turned and went across the the tressel which is now the dam. The dam was made out of railroad cars. Then it went up Church street, in west main , down central to sawyer and back to belview.

If you go thru town you can see the cobble stones on church street. (They are digging up broadway and can see it.) Rails were embedded in the cobblestones.

Anderson had a local green house 3 doors from the house. They always had a goat. The goat got loose and chased Earl home. He slammed the screen door and the goat came right thru it.

Thomas E Hoeflich, Army combat medic

Thomas E. Hoeflich, 45, formerly of Snyder, died March 22, 2002 in Venice, Fla. Born in Buffalo, Hoeflich was a 1974 graduate of Amherst High School and attended the University at Buffalo, then went to Southern California to join his brothers in their classic car restoration business. When they closed the business, he became an automotive service writer for Sears and Nissan.

He enlisted in the Army in 1990 and was the oldest person in his basic training class, joining the Army Medical Corps as a combat medic. He had been recommended for officer candidate school just before he was severely injured while serving at the 38th Parallel in Korea.

During his long recovery, he lived iwth his parents in Western New York and Florida and became an advocate for disabled veterans. He was also a life member of the Disabled American Veterans and a founder and past persident of the American Vetrans Liver Foundation.

He bought a home in Florida in June 2001 and served as a religious education teacher at St. John's Catholic Church in St. Petersburg Beach.

Survivors include his parents, Edward and Marion of St. Petersburg Beach and Sunset Island in Wilson; three brothers, Garry of Rancho, Santa Magarita, California, Chris of Ventura, California and David of Depew; and a sister, Susan McDuffee of Glouster, Mass.

Services were held March 26 in St. Petersburg Beach. Burial was in Bay Pines Veterans Memorial Gardens, St. Petersburg, Fla.²
